

AUTOMATA MAKING AT EYRES MONSELL SCHOOL, LEICESTER

The project was informed by a term of workshops investigating kinetic and water sculpture

Chinese dragon automaton made by the students from papier mache, card, wood and bottle-tops

On the half hour the water level rises - one head of the dragon breaths fire, the other head rises out of the water and puts out the fire.

Made by Arts Republic Molly Flechter, Elizabeth Armitage and Tom Wilkinson